o'clock from Richmond, several hours overdue.

Last night, in the thick weather, ferry traffic between Norfolk and Portsmouth was almost at a complete standstill, and hundreds of theatre-goers and Christmas merrymakers from those two places were held up in Norfolk until uncarthly hours. One ferry steamer, after feeling her way around the harbor for an hour almost, finally landed her human freight at a Seaboard Air Line freight warehouse, which takes up almost an entire water front block and was too big to miss. A bout from Portsmouth had a somewhat similar experience making a landing in Norfolk, finally teling up at the foot of Roanoke Avenue,

Monday With Great Sport.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

BLUE RIDGE SPRINGS, VA., December 27.—The morning after Christmas, at early dawn, the winding blast of the hunters horn, echoed through the valley and soon a band of hardy, swarthy mountaineers assembled at a given rendezvous, with a pack, aggregating twenty-five hounds, for a fox hunt.

Just before reaching the southwestern slope of the mountain, the leader of the pack struck a trail and his deep, prolonged yelp was immediately taken un by all the gang and their music kindled the enthusiasm of the hunters to a high degree, and a wild dash was made to overtake the winding pack. Owing to the soft condition of the ground strategy was resorted to, the topography of the land was scanned and anticipating the cunningness of old "reynard" in leading the dogs on a circuit, enabled the huntsmen to soon obtain a view of the chase that thrilled and excited the spirits to a wild degree,

A brilliant run of nearly two hours over foothills, glen and moor, caused his fox ship to again seek refuge, but not in a rock heap; his former experience was a lesson; he now disappeared in a deep den in the ground, and not having shovel or pick, the chase was abandoned, and all but the dogs were willing to admit that "old reynard" had bested them today.

GATD CITY, VA., Dec. 27.—The South and Western Railway Company has begun operations on the road from Clinchport, Scott county, to Tom's Creek, Wise county, George L. Cartor is president of the South and Western. The company is huliding telegraph lines and commissaries along the line, and it is expected that this branch of the old C. C. Grad will be let to contract at once. This gives Scott county two railroads running through the south and north sides of the county.
The southeastern road, recently chartered, has a force of engineers actively engaged locating a route fand these rival roads are expending large sums securing right of way from Clinchport, Scott county, to the coal fields, and there is some chance that unless a compromise is reached that there will be two roads built.

Gate City is within a mile and one-half of the crossing point of the South and Western and will receive the benefit of the new railroad enterprise. It is a fine center and a good location for all kinds of manufacturing business and is surrounded by was forests of hardwood timber and hag an unexcelled water power.
The town is built upon a marble foundation of the Suest grade for building

"The people of Buncombe county are prejudiced against Mr. Vanderbilt, but not so much against Mr. Vanderbilt personally, as against the Biltmore estate, because, in effect, Mr. Vanderbilt has established a dairy farm, a truck furm and other agricultural industries, and is a live competitor of the farmers of Buncombe county."

Early next week an application on the part of four persons now suing Mr. Vanderbilt in the County Superior Court will be made asking that the cases, aggregating in their requests, for damags, 570,000, he remanded to the State court and taken out of the jurisdiction of the United States court, Affidavits will also be filed by citizens of Asheville, denying that there is any marked prejudice against the owner of Biltmore.
